

The Quickest, Easiest Benefit Employees Are Raving About

Problem	Challenge	Solution
Employers are struggling to retain employees with record high inflation rates and employees leaving looking for better benefits and jobs that better support their financial wellness.	Finding and implementing a new benefit that employees engage with often takes time. Not only that, but with busy times it can be nearly impossible.	Employers have found success by implementing the quickest, easiest benefit on the market, PerkSpot. Employers can have their new program up in 7-10 days for employees to start saving immediately.

» Inflation and Retention Remain Challenging

Employers in all industries have been experiencing challenges in the past year regarding retention and employee satisfaction. Not only that, but inflation was recently at the highest it's been in 40 years. With millions of employees nationwide anxious about their finances, employers have had increased pressure to provide financial stability for their teams. With benefit enrollment and other responsibilities, time is extremely limited making implementing new programs increasingly difficult. In addition, budgets are thin with high inflation rates having an impact on organizations.

» Engaging Benefits Are Hard to Find

There are endless benefits that employers have to offer to their employees, but finding benefits that employees engage with it can be challenging. Employees have listed flexible work environments, unlimited vacation time, and retirement benefits as their top priorities. The top of the list? Financial wellness. With finances so high on the list, implementing these benefits has proven crucial. Unfortunately, implementing benefits usually comes with a steep cost.

With a list of challenges and little time to find new solutions, what options do employers have to retain top performing employees?
